Firemen Answer Three Alarms During Week

The Narberth Fire Company was called out three times during the past week. The first alarm, last Saturday at 4:30 P. M., was for a field fire at Montgomery and Narberth Avenues. There was no damage.

The second call, on Tuesday at 12:05 P. M., was to the home of William M. Sibley, 507 Haverford Avenue, where a fire in an open grate got out of control and seared the woodwork on the outside of the fireplace. The blaze was quickly extinguished; the damage amounting to $50.

The week's third alarm was also received Tuesday at 2:30 P. M. for a fire at the home of John K. Ketcham, 323 Haverford Avenue. It was caused a defective flue. The damage was estimated at $25.

Supper and smokes will be served and all ex-service men, regardless of rank and branch of service, are cor-

Woman's Community Group Hear of World's Social Conditions.

PEASANTS AND POWER

Current Events of the world was the topic of Mrs. Hope Le Barr Roberts' address at the Woman's Community Club of Narberth, on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Roberts gave an enlightening and analytical resume of the social conditions in the stressed countries of the world and the causes for it.

In South America the greatest cause is over-production and this is true of other countries. The peasants were in need of the necessities of life and hence there was an uprising and an overthrow of the old monarchies and dictators by the revolutionists and new governments were installed. The same thing is true in other countries and now it is a war between the peasants

'The Devil's Disciple' Is Repertory Offering

Excellent Performance Given by Main Line Players on Wednesday Night.

BRIGHT SHAW COMEDY

The Main Line Repertory Theatre on Wednesday evening presented "The Devil's Disciple," by George Bernard Shaw, at the Bala-Cynwyd Woman's Club. This witty piece was hugely enjoyed by a good-sized audience. This play is the only one by Shaw written about America. The action takes place in the little Colonial town of Websterbridge, New Hampshire, during the year 1777, and affords the ever-scintillating Irishman (or should not one so designate his nationality?) quite a few opportunities for brilliant repartee and clever remarks. Staats Cotworth, as Richard Dudgeon, makes the most of this humor and in fact, is very effective in "putting over" some of the satire which, if it had been less skillfully handled, would have been lost by the audience.

An outstanding feature all through the performance was the clear diction of the players. Every word could be heard and understood, which is worthy of mention in itself, for even today on the professional stage many actors do not make their words distinct or their voices carry. Undoubtedly much credit for this must go to Robert Rowland Deardon, 3d, under whose direction the play was produced.

While not as noteworthy in dialogue and wit as some later pieces of Shaw, "The Devil's Disciple" has more action than some of his later works which run more to philosophy. The first act takes place in the living room-kitchen of Mrs. Dudgeon's farm house, with Lisel Boericke taking the part of Mrs. Dudgeon, a religious woman of the eighteenth century New England who had ruled her husband, just departed this life, with a rod of iron, only to have him escape from her domination when making his last will and testament. Ironically he leaves her "the interest on her own money," but wills the rest of the estate to his two sons, Richard and Christopher. Miss Boericke, as Mrs. Dudgeon, did admirably all that could be done with an unsympathetic part. She portrays the domineering woman without bringing a ranting or scolding note in her voice. It was too bad that she only appeared in the first act.

Coal Car Jumps Trestle, Perches Atop Parked Auto

An empty coal gondola, which bumped off the trestle in the coal yard William H. C. Ramsey, Lancaster Avenue, Bryn Mawr, last Friday at 12:30, presented an odd sight as it crashed through the fence and came to rest on top of an automobile parked along the curb.

The car was being coupled to a freight train when a sudden jolt sent it off the end of the trestle, through the fence and almost out into the middle of Lancaster Pike.

Although it lost its truck wheels enough of the car remained on the tracks so that the damage to the parked automobile was slight. The car was owned by Charles L. Brown, of 6037 Hazel Avenue, Philadelphia.

L. M. Basketball Team Stages Fine Comeback

Snappy Passing Enables Main Line Five to Beat Collingdale.

EATON LED THE SCORING

Bill Anderson's two basketball teams started their home season Tuesday afternoon by defeating Collingdale in a doubleheader. The second team, led by Slim Brubaker and Louis Myers, easily topped their visitors by a 45 to 7 score.

The varsity, with the second string boys starting, played rings around their opponents and when the game was over led 36 to 16. John Eaton, former Washington Western athlete, led in high scoring with nineteen points. John Pennypacker's passing was a distinct advantage to the team. He gave Eaton six assists under the basket, while he scored four field goals himself. Captain James Turner still looks fagged out from the strenuous football season, but it is likely he will be in fine shape after a holiday rest of two weeks.

The team opens their new year season against Friends' Central, and before the present year is over they take on their ancient rival, Lansdowne. This game will be played away tomorrow night.

Bow to Episcopal

Episcopal Academy conquered Lower Merion High School's basketball team in the first game of the season last Friday, on the former's court, by a 29-22 score. Episcopal scored thirteen field goals to win and generally outplayed the Lower Merion team which was Suburban champion and runner-up in the series for the Pennsylvania State court title last season. Eaton, at forward for Lower Merion, scored four field goals and converted two free throws for a total of ten points, which gave him the game's high-scoring honors.

Episcopal's second team also won the game with the Lower Merion seconds by a 22-19 victory. Last year the Lower Merion reserves won twenty-four straight games without a defeat.

Lower Merion Freshmen met West Catholic High Fresh in a close game which needed two extra periods for Lower Merion to win by an 18-16 score at Ardmore on Monday. Zengel scored three field goals for the winners and Stanley, Matheys and Ica-velli all registered one apiece.

Senior High News

A display cabinet is to be placed in the main hall of the school for the purpose of exhibition of all special work done by the various departments in the high school.

The swimming team is to practice weekly at the Penn Athletic Club. Jim Donnelly, captain of the team, is expecting to have a good season, and it is likely the boys will give a good account of themselves.

The high school is to entertain a group of children from Christ's Home this afternoon. They will be taken care of by two representatives from each home room. The group will first see the Christmas play in the auditorium and then will go down to the girls' gym, where they will be given a holiday feed. Presents will be given to each.

The play, "Mistletoe and Hollyberries," coached by Miss Sheeley, is given this season as the holiday play. It is an old eighteenth century Christmas story and contains songs and dances of that period. Betty Hartley, Eleanor Devilbiss, John Joyce, Walter Geary, Helen Louise Thomas, Katherine McCarten, Ann Chalfont, Charles Quinn, Bill Ferguson, Bill Simmons, Bill White, Harry Smith, Bill Wren, Ruth Supplee, George Tremble, William Newborg, James Bailey, Robert Braid, Catherine Miller, George Endicott and Mary Sue Westcott take prominent parts in the performance.

Five Lawyers Participate in Hearing in Narberth

A hearing in Narberth this week took on the appearance of a meeting of the American Bar Association when five lawyers appeared on the scene. The case was that of Miss Louise Catherwood, of College Lane, Haverford, before Magistrate Howard C. Fritsch, in Borough Hall Tuesday morning.

Miss Catherwood appeared following an accident on Tuesday, December 9, in which her car struck a taxi driven by John Mawhinney at Essex and Sabine Avenues, Narberth. She was charged with failing to heed a stop sign, driving with poor brakes and with assault and battery by automobile.

On the first two counts she pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs on the first charge and $10 and costs on the second. To the charge of assault and battery by automobile she pleaded nolo condere and the charge was dismissed on the payments of costs.

The array of legal talent was as follows: Julian Bernard, representing the Donohue estate, owners of the taxi; H. Lester Haws, representing Mawhinney, the driver; Desmond McTighe, representing Margaret Flood, a passenger in the taxi, who was injured; George Purring, acting for the Hon. Fletcher W. Stites, counsel for the Keystone Indemnity Company, and Algernon Clapp, representing the defendant.

Junior High News

Miss Flemming's home room presented a beautiful play this morning at assembly entitled "Alias Santa Claus," by Percival Wilde. It was the annual Christmas play and came on the final assembly just before the school closed for the holidays. Robert Fox, William Zillger and Martin Case took the leading roles and gave a good account of themselves.

The rooms in the Junior High School are all decorated for the holiday season, and a prize given by the School Senate for the best decorated room was given to three this year. Misses Filler, Baum and Bortz had prize winning displays and the senate voted to give three first prizes instead of one.

The basketball team closed its season yesterday afternoon in their annual game with the Faculty. The team is undefeated thus far and bids fair to be high up in the league standings at the close of the season.

Mr. Snow has brought a large banner in the school colors for the stage fifteen feet long and six feet high. It is a beautiful banner with the school's initials in large letters and will be on display on gym night and other public performances.

Juniors Learn About 'Apocalyptic Literature'

The Junior Section, Women's Community Club, held one of its most successful meetings last Thursday evening, December eleventh at the home of the Program Chairman, Mrs. E. C. Clark. There were twenty-seven members and guests present to hear Clarence E. Tobias of Friends' Central School speak on "Apocalyptic Literature." While we are frank to admit that in presenting some of the deeper intricacies of his subject, Mr. Tobias made reference to facts a little difficult of comprehension to the average layman, yet it was a delightful experience to hear first-hand the satisfying results and amazing discoveries which come to those who choose to follow this erudite "hobby." Certainly we entertain the highest admiration for the enthusiasm and learning of Mr. Tobias as judged by his talk.

We likewise had the pleasure of a visit from Miss Margaret Reid, Junior chairman of the Southeastern District. Better known as "Peggy," Miss Reid has won her way into the hearts of Juniors wherever she has addressed them, and in her short speech to us, it was not difficult to discover why. Principally her extreme unselfishness is the cause, for just in the few minutes she talked, her words were all expressions of praise for the works of others. Mrs. Harold Greist, our own club member, pleased everyone with the splendid selections she rendered on the piano, after which she and Mrs. Clark, hostesses for the evening, served refreshments.

A collection was taken for the means to buy a Christmas basket for the poor, and plans were made for a movie benefit to take place at the Narberth Theatre on January fifth, sixth and seventh. There are two excellent features showing on these dates, and if you are interested, any Junior member will gladly furnish tickets.

A. Edward Newton Gives Reading at Haverford

"An imaginary conversation between Dr. Johnson and Dr. Franklin" was the subject of a play read by A. Edward Newton, bibliophile and author, of Daylesford, at Haverford College on Monday night.

It was the first public rendering of the manuscript, which was written by Dr. Newton for presentation at the meeting of the Johnson Society at Litchfield, England, last year.

The wit and skill with which various sayings of the two famous men were interpolated into the play, proved very enjoyable to an audience which filled Roberts Hall.

W. W. Comfort, president of the college, introduced Dr. Newton.

Warnings to Motorists

Two timely warnings to motorists are given by the Keystone Automobile Club.

One is to shun the hitch-hiker and the other is to beware of the wily solicitors of so-called "Magistrates and Constables' Associations," who are perpetrating their annual gouge on motor vehicle owners.

With reference to "highway pickups," the club says: "It may seem callous to urge motorists to reject the overtures of walkers for free rides, especially in cold and inclement weather. Doubtless there are many deserving persons to whom a 'lift' would be an act of charity, but unfortunately the motorist is in no position to judge the character of walkers who hail him, with the result that many kind-hearted drivers are attacked and robbed by pedestrians they have befriended."

"Reports from various parts of Eastern United States indicate that the practice of robbing motorists is becoming increasingly prevalent, and we feel it is our duty to call attention to the condition and warn motorists of this danger."

Intimidating methods are being used by telephone salesmen of the alleged "Magistrates and Constables' Associations," according to the club's legal department. "Motorists who have been called on the phone by these people are being bluntly informed they need expect no leniency in traffic violations unless their names are listed as contributors to the association," said an official of the legal department. "When their demands are refused, they assume a threatening attitude."

"Our advice to motorists," said J. Borton Weeks, president of the club, "is to refuse point blank to make any contribution, large or small. These alleged organizations exist for one purpose only—revenue. The money wrung from motorists by promises that cannot be fulfilled or threats that cannot materialize provides easy living for the salesmen and promoters."

Reading Room Popular at Narberth Library

The Reading Room of the Library, which is at present only three tables and a few chairs in the corner of the circulation department, has become increasingly popular during the recent months since the extended lighting system has made it possible to read the magazines with greater ease. The warm, pleasant atmosphere of the room, especially grateful during the long winter evenings, has also been conducive to its use, and to meet the needs of this department the Library has been adding to its list of magazine subscriptions for the following year.

The magazines of the current month are to be found on the tables for the convenience of readers in the Library; those of the preceding month, available for circulation also, are in the magazine rack, and the earlier numbers are kept on file and supplied as requested. For the information of Library patrons, the entire list as subscribed for by the Library is given below. For the Adult Department: Atlantic Monthly, Better Homes and Gardens, Bookman, Collier's Weekly, Current History, Club Women, Good Housekeeping, Harpers, House Beautiful, Library Journal, Literary Digest, Living Age, Nation, National Geographic, New Republic, Reader's Digest, Review of Reviews, Scientific American, Time, Woman's Journal. For the Children's Department the Library subscribes for the American Girl, Child Life, John Martin's Book, Popular Science, and St. Nicholas.

The Library receives also several gift subscriptions, The Ladies' Home Journal, McCall's, Woman's Home Companion, and The American Magazine from Mrs. John Brooks, and The Clubwoman and Boy's Life from Mrs. E. C. Town. Other gifts from individuals or from organizations are as follows: Spirit of Missions, Daughters of the American Revolution Magazine, Columbia, Christian Science Journal, and Christian Science Sentinel, American Agriculturist, The Standard, Humane Review, and Our Dumb Animals, also the following newspapers: Our Town, Ardmore Chronicle, Home News, Our Church Visitor, and Christian Science Monitor.

Beside these, friends of the Library bring regularly The Saturday Evening Post, The Magazine of Wall Street, The Nation's Business, and The American Boy. Frequently other gifts of magazines are made by those interested in the work of the Library.

Narberth's community weekly news-magazine may be purchased at newsstands in the borough, and $2 will bring it by mail to your home every Friday for a year.

Main Lines

Miss Catherine Landreth, director of the School for Child Study at the New Jersey College for Women, in a talk last Friday, at the college, advocated Christmas toys for father's amusement, to enable the children to play with their own.

Further she said "Christmas afternoon, it is often father and a fond uncle who play with the new mechanical locomotive, while the child of the family is in a corner amusing himself with mother's spools of thread, or more precious possessions. If adults were provided with the type of complex toys they enjoy, they might not be tempted to buy children's toys which are unsuitable to their age and interests."

All of which leads one to tell of a little incident seen in an Ardmore drug store the other day.

A middle-aged man was seated at the counter over which chocolate sodas, sundaes, hot dog sandwiches and sundry other American delicacies are served, at the national institution known as "lunch."

Beside him on the counter was a toy—a walking or jiggling man, of dusky hue. First the man inspected the toy thoroughly while waiting for his lunch; then when munching his hot dog sandwich, he wound the toy man up and watched intently, his "Black Bottom" motions, or whatever the antics should be termed.

We doubt that this is the "complex" type of toy, but, suffice to say, it interested.

We hope that Santa Claus happened to see this little episode and that the man in question will find a dancing man in his stocking.

There will be a number of Main Line fathers who undoubtedly will be just as interested as Junior in that Xmas electric train, only father's run really starts on Christmas Eve, when the train has to be tried out, so that it will surely run for Junior the very first thing on Christmas morning.

But to be impartial, Mother enjoys dressing dolls and fixing up a doll's house for little daughter.

A distressed Main Line hostess was phoning from a public phone the other day. The conversation ran like this, "Yes, call up Bill, you can always get him at the last minute. Just call Ardmore —. Ask for him, that's all that I could do. . . . You'd rather have Virgil? . . . I'd die before I'd ask him again. . . . No, he just didn't come at all one time when I was giving a party. . . . Ferd? . . . Well, ask him if you want to. . . . Where can you get him? . . . Look in the Social Register, you dumbbell. . . . It's right on my desk. . . . Oh, I don't care whom you ask, so you get somebody. . . ."

Such is popularity among the masculine sex. Somebody! That's all that is required.

How vain is vanity.

Train dispatchers have always been criticized, yea, even ridiculed, for their mumbling and stunted diction. Every so often the brakemen and conductors who call out the stations along the Main Line hardly give a clue as to what station the train is approaching. Of course, it must be admitted that their voices must carry above the screeching of the wheels as they slow down and crunch along the rails. But in the late afternoon one day recently, a nervous, elderly lady was trying in vain to decipher what names the trainman called. It's all right if you are a regular Paoli localer. Then if you think you hear "Kimono," you know that it is Villanova. There's no such station as "Jane," so you may be pretty sure that you may alight safely for Wayne. Rosemont and Bryn Mawr usually reach one as "Ont" and "Arc."

The nervous lady, however, could stand this uncertainty no longer, so she got out her time-table and carefully checked each station. She wasn't going to make a mistake.

We suggest that trainmen take a few lessons from Joe E. Brown on how to make oneself heard.

Narberth Theatre Notes

Ruster Keaton and Cliff Edwards in the amusing burlesque of war pictures, "Doughboys," is at the Narberth Theatre this week-end.

Elsie Ferguson in "Scarlet Pages" will be here on Monday and Tuesday. Gary Cooper in "The Spoilers," a mighty outdoor drama, will be the feature Wednesday and Christmas day. Coming next Friday and Saturday are the inimitable Marx Brothers in "Animal Crackers."

Coming the following week are George Arliss in "Old English" and Eddie Cantor in "Whoopee"—two of the year's outstanding shows.

Egyptian Theatre News

In "Helping Grandma," the "Our Gang" comedy which accompanies "Heads Up" at the Egyptian Theatre, Cynwyd, this week-end, are a new cast of children, with the exception of Farina. The rest all grew up. The children's comedy is a new and funny one.

The Egyptian's program next Monday and Tuesday will be a diversified one. In addition to the thrilling drama, "Sea God," in which Richard Arlen, Fay Wray and Eugene Pallette are starred, there will be a James Fitzpatrick travel talk on "The Island Empire," and the first talking comedy of that pert hero of "Torchy" and other silent cinema fun feasts—Johnny Hines.

"Runaway Bride," with Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes, is the Cynwyd Theatre's featured offering for next Wednesday and Thursday. Friday and Saturday of next week, Buddy Rogers and Nancy Carroll will star in the talking picture version of the amusing stage success, "Follow Thru."

For New Year's Eve and Day, the extra-long and funny "Laurel and Hardy Murder Case" will accompany "Love in the Rough" at the Egyptian. The latter picture is an amusing yarn in which Robert Montgomery and Benny Rubin are starred. On the same holiday program will be Bobby Jones in a spotlight of his appearance this year at the Merion Golf Club, "Par and Double Par."

To Lecture in New York

Frank A. Schrepfer, of Grayling Avenue, Narberth, assistant professor in the School of Fine Arts, University of Pennsylvania, will lecture before New York Horticultural Society meeting to be held in New York on Thursday, January 8. His subject will be "Plants as Decorative Features."

Large
Homes

It is astonishing to realize how reasonably one may add enduring beauty and permanent value to an estate or large home. This can be done by the liberal planting of SMALL, well-rooted evergreens. Large numbers can be planted at small cost (particularly so at the present time) and will soon grow into valuable trees.

We have a dozen varieties of fine evergreens in our Glenbrook Nurseries, in the smaller sizes, ready for permanent planting. A few can be put in this month if the ground is open. But if you will phone us to go over your property with you NOW, you will be ready to improve your property at the first breath of spring.

Test Novel Method of Ash Removal Here

Apparatus Collects Ashes From Numerous Homes by Suction.

IN EXPERIMENTAL STAGE

A revolutionary method of collecting ashes by means of suction, which is being studied by the Anthracite Institute, was given a series of tests in Narberth on Monday. The borough was selected as a likely field for experimentation and through the co-operation of Ralph S. Dunne, of the Narberth Coal Company, permission was granted by the borough authorities to make ash collections in various places.

In the tests on Monday ashes were collected by means of the new apparatus from some houses in Narbrook Park, several residences on Wynnewood Road, and on Shirley Road where they were taken directly from the cellar.

The apparatus, which is mounted on a five-ton Autocar chassis, consists of a large steel tank, a separator and a flexible hose. Power is generated by the motor of the truck. In operation the end of the hose is put into the ash can, the ashes being sucked through the hose and sprayed with oil as they are taken into the separator. There the air passes off through a funnel and the ashes drop into the tank. The oil spray aids in the separation of the ashes and air and also settles the ash dust.

"The apparatus has many interesting possibilities, although it is yet in the experimental stage," said Mr. Dunne in commenting on the tests. "It is quite within the realm of possibility that by means of this or a similarly designed piece of apparatus, ashes will be removed directly from cellars without any human assistance whatsoever. This could be effected by means of a large ash pit under the heater with pipe connections to an outlet in the cellar wall. There the tube of the apparatus would be fitted on and the ash pit emptied in short order by suction with no labor or dirt.

"In view of the experiments and tests that are constantly being conducted by such organizations as the Anthracite Institute," Mr. Dunne continued, "the day may come when retail coal dealers will be selling coal at so much per ton, ash removed."

Mr. Dunne has been very active in bringing about a better understanding on the part of the public of the problems of the anthracite industry, having giving talks on the subject before numerous groups, both in the Philadelphia area and elsewhere.

Our Greetings to All

"The cold wind doth blow and we shall have snow"—but who cares? It's Christmas!

There's a subtle something about Christmas which breeds joy and contentment in the souls of all, from the humble to the mighty. There's a soft singing in the hearts of those who have given their help to the needy; there's a hymn of thanksgiving on the lips of those whose distress has been thus served.

Christmas is for everybody!—so come along, everybody!—feel its joyful rhythm! grasp your happy share.

And if it should happen that among the hearty greetings heaped upon you in friendly thought, there is space to tuck away just a few more,—may we, JEDDO-HIGHLAND'S distributors of warmth along the Main Line, claim the honor of placing there our own best wishes for your Health, Wealth and Happiness this Christmas season and throughout the New Year?

Chicken Thief in Penn Valley, Tracked Down by Officer Tom Lance, Turns 'Possum

For several weeks the residents along State Road, in the lower Penn Valley section, have been losing a number of their chickens. Almost every night witnessed a shortage in the hennery of some resident. The police were appealed to, and while every cop did his utmost to catch the prowler, yet while one place was being watched another coop would be entered and a check-up would reveal the loss of several more birds.

While patrolling the beat one night last week Officer Tom Lance heard the barking of several dogs and began an immediate investigation. As he approached the spot where the sounds came from, the barking became even greater. Tom felt sure that he was at last on the real scent of the intruder. He hurriedly entered the estate of the late Dr. Joseph Neff, stalking to the rear of the property where the chicken house was located.

The dogs were barking their heads off and Tom felt sure that this time the thief would not get away. As he neared the hennery he saw two great, big eyes shining in the glare of his flashlight. He knew that those eyes did not belong to a human being, but—wait a minute—what kind of eyes do skunks have?

The officer was taking no chances on the visitor being a skunk and he made sure that in case of a hurried retreat there would be nothing to hinder his speed. Then he returned with his trusty gun in his hand and began firing at the animal. One shot—still blinking—two shots—one eye blinking—three shots—over he goes and the eyes ceased to shine.

Then, and then only, Tom approached and found the thief of many visits, a nice, large, chicken-bed 'possum, as dead as it will ever be. There was much rejoicing along State Road when the news went abroad that the chicken thief had been captured and killed.

Garden Club Awards Prizes in Movement to Prevent Yuletide Destruction of Christmas Greens

The regular monthly meeting of the Garden Club of Bala-Cynwyd was held in the Woman's Club House December 4 at 10 A. M.

The meeting was addressed by Miss J. Leslie Kift, who is the editor of the garden column for the Public Ledger. Her subject was "The Care of House Plants," which subject she most intelligently and interestingly presented, giving her hearers much and most useful information and it was the unanimous desire of all present that Miss Kift would consent to talk to them very soon again.

The Garden Club, in co-operation with the request to encourage the movement to protect all evergreen trees, holly and ground pine, crows-foot, etc., heretofore destroyed at Christmas time, offered prizes for the best exhibits of Christmas table decorations and wreaths made from evergreen clippings, weeds and anything artificial.

For best table decorations, the first prize was awarded to Mrs. C. Leslie Sherman (a tall silver dish containing silver and red balls and green vine trailing over the side of the dish accompanied by two tall silver candlesticks containing green candles); second prize, Mrs. James Moore (brown jar filled with hawthorn); third prize, Mrs. Philip Chase (low dish filled with spruce and cedar branches with large poinsettia arranged in centre, accompanied by two small red candleholders containing red candles).

For best wreaths: First prize, Mrs. Charles Parkhurst (wreath made of evergreen clippings trimmed with red artificial flowers); second prize, Mrs. Philip Chase (evergreen wreath trimmed with tiny red and yellow apples); third prize, Miss Helen Birkenbine (wreath made of clippings of cedar tree trimmed with golden rod gone to seed and cuttings from barberry bush).

This exhibit showed what attractive decorations can be made without destroying plants and trees.

The prizes were lovely Italian pottery vases. Judges were Mrs. Frank Elmore and Mrs. David Wilson.—(K. G. B.)

Plans Announced by Women's Golf League

Six new club teams were listed for the Women's golf matches next year, which start on April 28, with thirteen divisions, comprising 546 players. Officers were also elected at the annual meeting of the Women's Golf Association which was held last Thursday at the Bellevue-Stratford. Mrs. Lewis W. Robey, of Overbrook, was unanimously elected president; Mrs. Edwin H. Fidler, Merion, vice president, and Mrs. Emma G. Betz, Philadelphia Country Club, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, of the Merion Cricket Club, will again purchase the prizes.

The mixed foursome championship of the Philadelphia district will be played on the east course of the Merion Cricket Club on June 22, 23, 24 and 25. Fall dates for the Nancy Wilbur Memorial Cup event at St. Davids and the Hurd Cup event at the Merion Cricket Club at Haverford, will be announced later by the Executive Committee.

"On Forsyte 'Change," by John Galsworthy (Charles Scribner's Sons, $2.50). Nineteen stories, all new, in different veins, which tell further about the members of the Forsyte family.

"Cakes and Ale," by Somerset Maugham (Doubleday, Doran and Co., Inc., $2). Those who liked the satire in "Moon and Sixpence," by the same author, will appreciate this quality in this newer volume. "The Book-of-the-Month Club News" says that Rosie, one of Maugham's characters, is "one of the great characters of contemporary fiction."

"Philippa," by Anne Douglas Sedgwick (Houghton Mifflin Company, $2.50). A charming book by the author of the popular "Little French Girl."

"Angel Pavement," by J. B. Priestley (Harper and Brothers, $3). By the author of "The Good Companions" in the great English tradition of Dickens. It is a story of London life. Also it is termed an "international best seller."

"Mirthful Haven," by Booth Tarkington (Doubleday, Doran and Co., Inc., $2). Romance and realism combined in a tale of the Maine coast.

"Lone Cowboy," by Will James (Charles Scribner's Sons, $2.75). "My Life Story" is the way the author describes this interesting story, that will appeal to all ages.

"The Adams Family," by James Truslow Adams (Little, Brown and Co., $4). A biographical-historical treatment of a family consistently prominent in American affairs, from John Adams, second President of the United States, to Charles Francis, 3d, who is Secretary of the Navy in President Hoover's Cabinet.

"Jefferson Davis: Political Soldier," by Elisabeth Cutting (Dodd, Mead and Co., $5). A fine, accurate portrait of the President of the Confederacy. His strength and his weakness are carefully estimated.

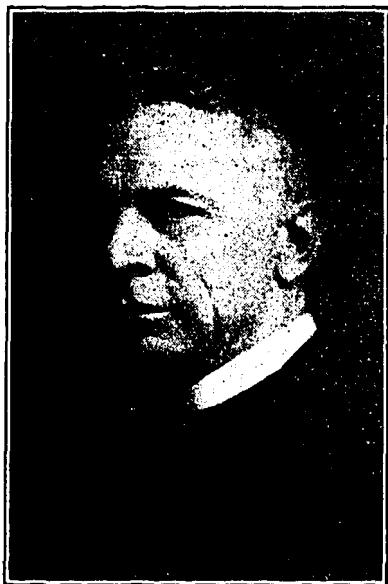

"Morgan, the Magnificent," by John K. Winkler (The Vanguard Press, $3.50). A fair and far from saccharine biography of one of the greatest financiers of all times. The same author wrote "John D. Rockefeller: A Portrait in Oil."

"Roosevelt: The Story of a Friendship, 1880-1919," by Owen Wister (The Macmillan Company, $4). A book of great charm in which contacts with many great men are recalled by the author.

"Little America," by Richard Evelyn Byrd, (G. P. Putnam's Sons, $5). The fine narrative of the famous expedition which conquered the South Pole by air.

"Jungle Islands," by Sidney Nichols Shureliff (G. P. Putnam's Sons, $10). A marvelous travel story of the South Seas by the leader of an expedition to the Solomon Islands, New Guinea, and other spots under the Equator.

Miss Laura B. Staley, of Ardmore, Tells Music Club of Travels in Various Climes

Miss Laura Belle Staley, of Ardmore, was one of the speakers at the luncheon given by the Philadelphia In and About Music Supervisor Club held at the Walton on Saturday, December 6.

Miss Staley gave some of the amusing highlights of her travels through the far West, Alaska, Mexico, Panama Canal, South America and Cuba. She was at Del Monte when Colonel Lindbergh was trying out the gliders and told of his dropping to the highway, which was rather congested with motorists, who were following his flight. A traffic policeman, not recognizing the famous flyer, gave him a vigorous "call down" and Lindy meekly rose and flew away.

Miss Staley was chairman of the entertainment committee on the steamship "Guatemala" on her return to New York and one night entertained the guests with the tragic grand opera, "The Grasshopper." The only score she had was that she had in her head and, from memory, she copied the different solos for the cast and taught the choruses by note; the Hawaiian orchestra on board quickly learned their parts. The audience thoroughly enjoyed the primitive stage settings and costumes, the latter being collected from the various purchasers of hats, scarfs, shawls, etc., from the different ports en route.

Miss Staley also witnessed the football game at the Rose Bowl, Pasadena, California, on January 1, last year, between Pittsburgh and California, which was a marvelous sight. She also spoke of her visit to Mt. Lowe and of taking the horseback ride over the narrow trail.

While staying in Helena, Mont., she stopped at the Hotel Placer, and learned that enough gold had been taken from the mine to pay for more than the foundation of this enormous hotel. Some years ago when down-and-out travelers came to Helena, seeking aid, they were told to go out to the mountains and scratch. It was not an unusual experience for these men to come in with $30 or $40 worth of gold in a day's scratching. Miss Staley immediately asked to be sent out scratching but, to her regret, was told she had come much too late.

At San Diego she enjoyed an airplane ride going at 110 miles an hour and at an elevation of 3000 feet.

Miss Staley also spoke of the wonderful possibilities of Alaska, especially if the proposed motor road is built. She brought home some beautiful colored photographs of the desert flowers in bloom, for she visited the desert region when the sand verbena, poppies and lupina were all in bloom.

Miss Staley ended with apologies to Harry Lauder: "It is nice to go traveling but it is nicer to come home again."

Dr. Francis Eliot Clark, head of the Educational Department of the Victor Company, of Camden, was the honor guest at the luncheon and gave a most interesting lecture on "Trend of Modern Education." He also gave a demonstration on the Theremin, with the accompaniment of Victor Records.

Complete Colonial Forge to Be Erected at Valley Forge Near Site of Unearthed Ruins

A Colonial forge with its contents, discovered after prolonged search on Hay Creek, Berks County, has been purchased by the Valley Forge Park Commission, and will be removed and set up at Valley Forge. It will be located on the west side of the Valley Creek, at the foot of the hill, called Mt. Misery, in Chester County. The Valley Creek flows to the north, emptying into the Schuylkill, whose general course at Valley Forge is eastwardly.

The purchased Hay Creek forge is to be re-erected adjacent to the ruins of the Valley forge, burned by the British troops in September, 1777. These ruins were discovered in 1929, under some ten feet of silt, deposited over them through the course of many years. Fortunately, the silt deposit preserved the contents, the two water wheels, the sluice way, the flooring, the anvil box and tool box. All these, together with the stones of the foundation wall, numerous pieces of metal, bars of pig iron, hand-made nails, showed unmistakable signs of having been through a hot fire.

The discovery of the forge ruins, the most important discovery, historically, made since the creation of the Valley Forge park, was due to a historical sketch written by the Honorable Isaac Anderson, who, as a Continental soldier, carried dispatches from Washington's headquarters at Valley Forge to the Congress setting in the winter of 1777-78 at York, Pa., the British being in Philadelphia. Anderson's home was two miles from Valley Forge. In later life he was a member of Congress. He described the location of the burned forge minutely, and where he wrote that it was, the ruins were uncovered.

This was the forge to which was first given the name of Valley Forge, which gave its name to the camp of Washington's army, according to the British historian, Trevelyan, the most famous military camp in the world.

Three different forges along the Valley Creek are indicated in the Colonial period, but the two others do not possess the historical importance of the one that was the first to be called the Valley Forge, the forge whose burned ruins have now been uncovered about five-eighths of a mile above the mouth of the Valley Creek, on the west side of that creek in Chester County. This forge was erected seven or eight years before the Revolutionary War. Another forge had been erected still earlier in the 1740's. It was down the creek near the Philadelphia road, in what was then Philadelphia County, now Montgomery County, a short distance from what became Washington's headquarters house. That forge was called Mt. Joy forge, not Valley forge since it was out of the valley, but adjacent to Mt. Joy, the hill on the eastern side of the Valley Creek.

The leading authority on early Pennsylvania forges and furnaces is George W. Schultz, of Reading. He has written that this Mt. Joy forge was outworn at the time of Washington's encampment in 1777-78 and that the forge whose ruins have now been unearthed was the forge at the time the British troops went on their destructive way through Valley Forge.

This opinion is confirmed by past statements of leading historians of the State, by traditions handed down in many families of the vicinity, among them the descendants of General Anthony Wayne, Major Bartholomew and Lieutenant Anderson. There are also the sworn statements of William De-wees, owner of the burned forge, made to the Chester County commissioners and to Congress that the burned forge was in Chester County where it has been found by excavation and by the certificate of General Wayne, an experienced surveyor of lands before he was a famous soldier.

Co-operation Supplants Competition Among Weekly Newspapers of the Main Line

An organization unique in the newspaper world, and which bears promise of being of far-reaching service to the Main Line, is functioning with increasing strength throughout the region.

Oil and water, it is quite generally acknowledged, decline to be mixed, and if, perchance, they were mixed, the resultant combination would be a useless mess, with each element striving to break away to resume its own personality, and to take up again its natural antipathy for the other.

And competitors in the same fields of business in the same or nearby territories have been regarded—and rightly so—as being a little likely to co-operate with each other as are oil and water to mix.

The weekly newspapers of the Main Line communities, however, have shown that competition does not shut out co-operation, and that each of the units will be better for working hand in hand rather than at cross-purposes.

Several weeks ago the Whitehall Grill, Haverford, was the gathering-place of a half-dozen publishers of weekly newspapers of nearby communities. At luncheon, that day, was formulated the idea from which has sprung the Main Line Weekly Newspaper Council—which is, in short, an organization for mutual helpfulness.

The purposes of the Council are primarily the interchange of news and editorial features of interest to the entire community. By syndicating this material and information among the member newspapers, a far greater number of interesting features will be available for each, and news bits originating in one town will be made available to readers of other community papers.

The eight community weeklies which comprise the Main Line Council boast a circulation of 20,000 papers a week, which go to a territory of about 20,000 homes. Upon this unequalled coverage of the Main Line territory, the weeklies base their claim that they, who have in some cases a fifty-year record of service, are the logical media through which to present either advertising or news messages to the residents of the entire district. Promotional work will be done to present this story to persons and organizations who will be interested in such unparalleled coverage of an area like the Main Line.

In addition to the co-operative work dealing with problems of newspaper publishing, the Main Line Weeklies have already sponsored a number of moves of civic import. Having inaugurated the idea several months ago of publishing "Help Wanted Ads" free of charge to aid the unemployment situation, the group resumed this policy a few weeks ago, which move was endorsed by its adoption by a nearby publication.

The group has been agitating for new and better stations for the Main Line shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and is conducting a vigorous editorial and news campaign to bring this to pass.

Within the past fortnight, the Council has sponsored the formation of the Main Line Weekly Newspaper Coal Fund, which is intended to relieve severe conditions during the winter months, which will operate without red tape, and which will give publicity neither to the donor nor the recipient.

The Council plans a continued program of community and civic promotional activity along these lines, and any one of the newspapers will be glad to receive suggestions and to bring them up for discussion before the group.

The following weeklies are members of the Main Line Council: Ardmore Chronicle, The Main Line, Bryn Mawr Home News, Bala-Cynwyd News, Narberth "Our Town," Berwyn Weekly Herald, Wayne Suburban and Times and the Haverford Township News.

Merion Guild and Police Cloth Over 100 Children

Through the co-operation of the Lower Merion police force with the Merion Branch, Needlework Guild of America, over a hundred children, of all ages, have been supplied with adequate clothing for the winter. Each child has been equipped with two sets of stockings and warm underclothes.

The Guild this year reserved a thousand garments from those received in the annual collection to be devoted to the needs of the Lower Merion children in this unusual time of distress. Mrs. James J. Pocock, is the president of the Merion branch and Mrs. David Soliday is secretary. Mrs. Howard Mitchell has been in charge of the purchasing of garments. This year a number of money contributions were sent to the Merion branch and with this, long stockings, cotton fleece-lined underwear, flannellette bloomers for the girls, sweaters and corduroy trousers, caps and gloves for boys were bought. In fact, sensible and serviceable clothing was sought. For children under the school age, overalls were gotten.

Speaks on India

Dr. Hildreth Caldwell, a medical missionary to India, who gave a talk at the meeting of the Pennsylvania Medical Missionary Society held last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James A. Develin, Rose Lane, Haverford.

Indian Medical Work Is Vividly Described

Dr. Hildreth Caldwell Tells of Her Hospital Work in India.

Dr. Hildreth Caldwell told a fascinating story of her hospital in Kasganj, under the North India Presbyterian Mission at the meeting of the Pennsylvania Medical Missionary Society, which was held at the home of Mrs. James Develin, Rose Lane, Haverford, last Thursday afternoon. Dr. Caldwell is on a year's leave of absence, to take a post-graduate course at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, and plans to return to the hospital sometime next summer.

Dr. Caldwell, who is a graduate of the University of California, is able to bring home to the young people the fun of being a missionary. Wherever she goes, her radiant spirits and glowing enthusiasm win support for the cause. She tells the story of individuals in the hospital she has been able to help.

"There are many problems to be met in caring for the physical needs of the natives," said Dr. Caldwell. Many children have sores on their bodies, diseased eyes and are suffering from other ailments. No caste woman may be treated by a physician unless there is a physician of her own sex to take care of her; even then, there are many difficulties to overcome. The hospital, too, has to be run on entirely different lines than those in this country, for the various customs of the various peoples must be considered and must be handled delicately and with great understanding.

The hospital, which contains thirty beds, a dispensary and an operating room, is only equipped to take care of a few of the natives of that densely populated district north of the Ganges. Dr. Caldwell said that she specialized on the few who came to her and generally treated them so successfully that they were absolutely cured.

Just a few weeks before Mahatma Gandhi started his independence campaign, Dr. Caldwell was his guest in his Ashram and discussed with him the question of India's needs. She found him interested in her work, and Gandhi asked her many intelligent questions about it.

Finishing her address, Dr. Caldwell said that the people of India were longing for a better international understanding.

Among the Main Line residents who are the directors for 1931 and 1932, besides those above mentioned, are Mrs. James B. Bailey, of Bryn Mawr; Mrs. John S. Garrigues, of Haverford; Mrs. Henry B. Masters, of St. Davids; Miss Florence B. Scott, Wynnewood; Miss Mary Wilson, of Wayne, and Miss Jane Stewart Wilson, of Haverford.

Haverford Man Writes Verse on Nantucket

A modest little book of verse, written by William Wells Jordan, of Haverford, with most of the subject matter pertaining to Nantucket, has just been published. A deep affection for the small island is shown in the opening poem, "Nantucket," one verse in particular stressing the charm to be found there:

"There sweeping sunsets flame o'er moor and sea,
There stars and mystic moonlight fill the night,
There sunlit waters laugh and dance in glee,
The world lies past the sea line

out of sight."
Mr. Jordan, who spent a number of summers at Nantucket, tells some of the historical lore of the island in the poem, "The Old Church Tower." Two verses there describe quaint customs:

"In years ago, upon its tower's height,
Those ships were sighted, cried, afar from shore;
Events by day, and dangers of the night,
The watchman's voice to listening townsmen bore."

"His lantern swung at night upon the side
Where fires blazed, to guide the hurrying feet;

The hours, and weather fair or foul, he cried,
'All's well!' rang through the dark and silent street."
Another poem, "The Island Gulls," has the luring lines:

"Sailing through sunlit air,
Spirits released from care,
On moveless wing;"

A deep love of the sea, and all that is closely allied to it, is shown all through the poems in this little volume. Mr. Jordan was a resident of Ardmore for six years, before moving to his present home in Haverford, at 427 Berkeley Road. For nine years Mr. Jordan, who, before that time, was in the Congregational ministry in Massachusetts, was professor of Biblical Literature and Church History at Ursinus College, at Collegeville.

In talking of Nantucket, Mr. Jordan said that the charm of the island grew upon one year after year, and that, though first impressions might be that it was a sandbank and nothing more, everyone who has ever gone there, and remained for any length of time, was finally charmed with the place. The Indian legend, as he told it, is that after the Great One was through creating America, he emptied the sand from his moccasins—and that made Nantucket.

The poems which were written over a period of years were collected and printed at the suggestion of Mr. Jordan's friends. The volume may be had at the local book stores; in the paper

Kiwanis Club Hears Disarmament Plea

Dr. William Hall, Professor at Swarthmore, Is Speaker at Meeting.

REVIEWS PEACE EFFORTS

Total disarmament, by international agreement if possible or by national example if necessary, as the one and final avenue to world peace was advocated by Dr. William I. Hall, chairman of the Pennsylvania Committee for Total Disarmament in an address before the Main Line Kiwanis Club at Whitehall, Haverford, December 9.

Dr. Hall is head of the Department of History and International Relations at Swarthmore College, a member of the Royal Historical Society and the author of several books on the question of international policy.

The history of the past thirty years has been characterized, the speaker said, by an increase in the application of pacific means to insure world peace while at the same time there has been a steady movement to augment land and naval armaments.

Why is it that with all these pacific means in use, world peace is in so precarious a position? Why are war clouds threatening the horizon of the world even in our own time? Because while we have been developing the pacific means to settle international difficulties the important question of disarmament has not been solved.

The Hague Conference in 1899 attempted to solve the question. But it adjourned, leaving the difficulty unanswered. The Governments decided to leave the matter in their own hands. In every international conference up to the Geneva meeting of the great nations nothing was accomplished. After this President Hoover and Ramsay MacDonald got together and decided that something should be done. In the London conference there were some results. It was decided that all battleships and heavy cruisers should be done away with. But one of the sorry results of the conference was the fact that the nations began to increase their naval forces to fit in certain agreements in that treaty. The conference did not touch the question of land and aerial forces. The question still confronts the powers of the earth.

Then there is the economic side of the question. Dr. Hall pointed out. What will the historian of the future say of a nation that spends five millions of dollars for armaments? What will he say of us for spending this money when it is needed for other and more important matters?

Armaments constitute an insuperable foe to all pacific means of settlement. In back of all means of arbitration looms this difficulty of armament. As long as we rely on armaments we cannot come to that phase of mental disarmament so necessary for peaceful settlement. For armaments are provocative of war.

Our ancestors who founded this republic foresaw the difficulty of the question and provided for it. They knew that trouble would arise even in our own nation. They instituted the Supreme Court to cope with all interstate problems. During our past history many questions have arisen and have been settled by that body. The result is seen in traveling along our State borders. There is not a fortress to be found. How different from the state of things in Europe where the frontiers are flanked with battlements. The Rhineland has been the subject of bitter dispute between France and Germany for a hundred years.

But already a movement is going forward towards total disarmament. Germany is practically in that position. England is following suit. Denmark has passed several laws to do away with its armaments.

There are two ways of dealing with the problem. The piecemeal one of striking at battleships and heavy cruisers which does not solve the matter. The other alternative is complete disarmament. This policy is in agreement with all our American principles and American common sense. Is America to lead the way? What a magnificent precedent for the United States to pledge itself never to resort to arms to settle any dispute. Disarmament complete and entire is an American solution to the question of international peace. In the name of democracy we advocate it.

Dr. Hall was introduced by E. E. Burlingame. Edward W. Ehnmann, president of the club, presided.

A Relic of Older Days

The Ardmore station, one of the buildings which Main Line folks do not point to with pride when showing the sights to visitors from Keokuk. This picture is one of a series to be printed by the Main Line Community weeklies to show the need of modern stations in keeping with the wealth and fame of the Main Line.

Just Comments

We are thinking of organizing a society for the "Going Back to Old-fashioned Games." Nice, gentle little games such as prisoner's base, or kick the wicket, or spin the plate. Good, healthy fun.

That's just as an antidote for the newest sport. Imagine going out of evening, presumably to play a docile game of contract and being told by one's hostess that "Murder" was to be the amusement of the evening.

Hastily memories of former years when unsuspecting bridge guests, hoping for their favorite game, were lured into an evening of treasure hunting, scouring the country over for clues.

"Murder" itself is a game of clues, or rather there should be clues. It can be extremely technical; in fact, there's a book on the subject. It is called "What'll We Do Next?" by Edward Longstreth and Leonard T. Holton. It is described as "the last word in sure-fire party games."

Strangely and appropriately enough it is published by a Chicago firm, Reilly & Lee. Whether the book started the game or the occasional playing of the game started the book, we are not in position to state.

But the fact remains that "murder or crime" games are taking with the hostesses of the land.

It's a bit hard on the constitution if you are marked down as the victim. But to begin at the beginning: each guest is handed a piece of paper, with his especial part which no one else sees, marked on it.

Hence one is the detective, another, the murderer, etc. All the guests but the detective leave the room. Everything is dark. The murderer picks his victim in a distant spot, the deed is done.

That's all right so far, but one poor lady telling of her experience in playing the part of the murdered one, said that the villain in his zeal to do a good job almost choked her to death. A tall and husky Harvard football man also was against choking as a means of removal, for he had a sound Adam's apple ruined for weeks when an Amazon picked on him as the victim.

Well, that's all there is to it, except the unraveling of the crime. Those who purport to know say that crime is rarely solved. Every guest is put on the witness stand and must tell the truth. Even though hard, every one must tell the absolute truth.

An advertisement of the book reads: Have you ever played "crime"? No? Then you're way behind the times.

Well, personally give us a good game of chess or bridge. But then the world is made up of a lot of different people and if the phase of the moment is that some people must have their play murder, they'll get over it.

Remember Mah Jong and all the rest of the crazes. They are all in past along with other has-beens. The world goes on just the same and is very little worse and, perhaps, even a little better. "Murder will be out" with the rest of them.

On the subject of being up-to-date, no one dares to face a dinner party now without having a good working conversational knowledge of the Five-Year plan. It is quite the subject to be discussed.

Perhaps the Soviet Government counted on the fact (but more likely they didn't) that Russia and the present rulers and their policy are getting a goodly amount of publicity—mostly resulting from this Five-Year plan. Russia has just about crowded the Lindberghs off the front page.

"Women," said a cynic, "are just like a college football team. They have to have a continual cheering section. But football lasts only in the fall, but women are here all the year round . . . and year in and year out."

Emergency Relief Committee Formed

Will Co-ordinate Unemployment Relief Work on the Main Line.

An emergency committee to co-ordinate the efforts of existing associations working to alleviate the unemployment situation was formed at a meeting at the Merion Title & Trust Company on Wednesday, December 10.

The members are as follows: George F. Curwen, representing the Lower Merion Board of Commissioners and the Main Line Federation of Churches, chairman; Major A. M. Collins, the American Legion; W. W. Bodine, Philip A. Hart, president of the Bryn Mawr Trust Company; Richard J. Hamilton, president of the Merion Title & Trust Company; William P. Ladis, the Ardmore Rotary; Edward W. Ehmann, the Main Line Kiwanis Club; H. H. Aikens, Haverford Township; William J. Serrill, the Community Health and Civic Association; Walter B. Richards, the Bala-Cynwyd Neighborhood Club, and Benjamin H. Ludlow.

The principal aim of this committee, the chairman declared, will be to get work for the unemployed. It will operate in Lower Merion, Haverford, and the eastern part of Radnor Townships and the Borough of Narberth.

Immediate Support Given Coal Fund

Project Initiated by Main Line Community Weeklies as Relief Measure.

LEADERS PRAISE PLAN

Immediate public support of the coal fund established by the Main Line Community Weekly papers was manifested with the announcement of the plans recently. Treasurer Peter C. Hess of the fund was the recipient at once of a nucleus of the amount which will be needed this winter.

Heads Ministers

REV. FRANKLIN DUNCOMBE
Minister of the Bala-Cynwyd Methodist Episcopal Church, who has been elected president of the M. E. Preachers' Meeting of Philadelphia and vicinity. He is the youngest man ever to hold this office.

Civic leaders have praised the plan to operate the fund without publicity to donor or recipient, and to exert the relief measures through the already operating agency of the police department. The weekly papers will simply continue to give publicity to the fund and to point out from time to time the need for additional help.

"That immediate relief is often needed is evident," a local minister commented Wednesday. "I know of one recent case where a destitute family, to prevent freezing, had to use a screen door and two chairs as fuel. Any Main Line resident knowing of such cases of hard luck should notify the police or Mr. Hess at once. I, for one, will do so."

The weekly newspaper publishers are pointing out that the fund is in existence for a specific need, and will not attempt to overlap other agencies in general relief or unemployment control. Every cent turned into the fund will be used for the one purpose of saving some unfortunate family from freezing. There will be no expenses.

Contributions for this worthy cause may be made to Mr. Hess at the Township Building. A few dollars can well save a life.

E. L. White, Jr., Wins Post in Expedition

E. L. White, Jr., son of E. L. White, of 144 Golfview Road, Merion Golf Manor, sailed on Wednesday as assistant to Dr. Erich Schmidt, of the University of Chicago, in a research expedition. Mr. White, who is a student in the School of the Fine Arts of the University of Pennsylvania, won this signal honor in competition with thirty other students.

As qualifications for the position it is said that the successful contestant had to be one-third architect, one-third surveyor and one-third red-blooded American ready to meet all emergencies. A small band of workers left on Wednesday under the leadership of Mr. White, to be joined later by Dr. Schmidt, who will spend some time in Europe, gathering necessary literary and archaeological information before proceeding to the first base of the expedition in Mesopotamia, where he will assume directorship of the venture.

THE NEW CHEVROLET SIX

Strikingly beautiful, fleet and smart
—a masterpiece of Fisher styling

Never has the superiority of Body by Fisher been more strikingly exemplified than in the Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six!

With the added advantage of a lengthened wheelbase, Fisher designers have achieved in the new Chevrolet an impressive degree of smartness, comfort and luxury.

Inside and out, scores of refinements stamp this car as a masterpiece of modern coachwork. Radiator, headlamps and tie-bar form an unusually attractive and distinctive ensemble. Mouldings sweep back in an unbroken line to blend with the smart new body contours. And new color combinations lend a new individuality. Interiors, too, are exceptional. The new mohair and broadcloth upholstery is smartly tailored. Seats are wider and more luxuriously cushioned. A deeper windshield and wider windows give better vision. And beautiful new modern fittings lend a final note of charm.

Many mechanical improvements are also evident in this Bigger and Better Six. Among these are a stronger frame; easier steering; a more durable clutch; a quieter, smoother transmission; and important engine refinements.

The Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six is now on display. See it today —drive it! It is the Great American Value!

Scientific Methods Employed in Rescue of 'Shadow,' Marooned in Starling Chase

"Shadow," the tom cat belonging to Paul H. Egolf, of 100 Woodside Avenue, Narberth, whose propensities for chasing starlings to the topmost branches of trees from which he was unable to descend, necessitating the calling out of the Narberth Fire Company on one occasion a few weeks ago, again caused commotion in the neighborhood last week-end.

When sufficiently recovered from his former escapade, Shadow again climbed the same tree last Thursday in search of his pet fodder, starlings, only to discover that there were none and that he was again marooned. He made known his predicament to the distress of neighbors and the anxiety of the firemen who rescued him before.

Mr. Egolf, an engineer, began to consider the problem from a scientific point of view. On Saturday he procured a basket with a rope attached and in the basket a hunk of meat of sufficient age so that its odors carried afar. The rope was heaved over a limb and the basket hoisted into the branches. One smell of meat by Shadow after a forty-eight-hour fast was sufficient and into the basket he leaped and was lowered to the ground.

"No more starling chases for Shadow," said Mr. Egolf; "he stays in my office henceforth."

Friends' Easy Victory

Friends' Central scored an easy victory over George School in a basketball match at Newtown on Friday, the final score being 55-13. Yeager, of the Overbrook team, topped the field with a total of thirteen points; Hinkle was next best, with a total of eleven points.

Haverford School Loses

Haverford School five was defeated on Thursday, December 11, by the Overbrook High School quintette Penn tournament champions last year, by a 28-9 score, in a one-sided game held at the Pennsylvania Palestra. Johnston scored two field goals for Haverford and Truitt another. In the second team game, Overbrook defeated the Haverfordians, 24-21.

Auto Stolen From Driveway of Narberth Home

An automobile owned by J. Philip McLaughlin, of Binghamton, N. Y., was stolen from the driveway of the home of Commander Charles H. Shaw, of 114 Avon Road, Narberth, last Wednesday night at 12:15. Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin were guests at the Shaw home.

The household had retired, but Mrs. Shaw heard the thieves and immediately notified the Lower Merion police. Philadelphia police presently saw the car at Ridge Avenue and Nicetown Lane, going at a terrific speed, and, thinking it belonged to a hit-run driver, fired upon it and began chase. The machine was found abandoned some miles farther on at Wissahickon Avenue near Roberts Street.

It was returned to its owner the next day when word of the robbery was received by the Philadelphia police. One wheel was smashed and the right rear fender bore the mark of a revolver bullet. Another stolen car had been left by the thieves near the Shaw home.

"Time Out"

By TOMMY MACKLIN

Tom Ottey is at his old tricks again.

Tom won the Middle Atlantic cross-country meet held last Saturday up at Elkins Park. He is a national junior five-mile champion also, and it is the second year in succession that the young Ardmore athlete has won this A. A. U. event.

We saw Tom in at Penn on Thursday, last week, and asked him what was the trouble with his running in the Camden meet the week before. He replied, "Overtrained." "Come on," we said, "let's go and have a bite to eat; it's only 10 o'clock. That will break your training for you." "Good," he said, and off we went to the "Two of a kind" for a cup of coffee and a slice of rye. It must have done him good, for he came back on Saturday with the same old fire that has carried him to many victories since he first started his cinder career up at Lower Merion Junior High School some seven years ago.

Episcopal Academy put a dent in Lower Merion's armor last Friday by defeating Bill Anderson's new basketball five by a 29-to-22 score. Episcopal was practically at mid-season form for this contest, while the Main Liners haven't been able to shake the mud off their shoes from the Radnor football contest.

Captain Jim Turner, John Penny-packer and Jim Bradford played the game as if it were a new kind of "Ask Me Another." Probably they will come through in the near future with some of their real form, for those who saw them in action last season know that they have a good working knowledge of the game.

George Eaton, Washington Western last year, and Hughie Wynn, of Cricket Avenue, were the two boys who played with familiarity during the contest.

The Junior High five won its fourth consecutive conquest of the youthful season Tuesday by battling through to a two-point victory at West Catholic, 18 to 16.

With just four seconds left to play in the final quarter, the Orange center, Bob Mathis, tapped in a field goal to tie the score. Two extra periods were required to break the deadlock, and in the final moment Captain Ray Stanley and Michael Zengel contributed beautiful plays which ended in a basket for each.

We have sunk to a low ebb. Neither W. Y. C. nor Herby even so much as mentioned our All-Suburban football team. Maybe it was good, after all.

If Penn wins one game on her present Western trip, the tour will be a complete success. We look for the team to be quite formidable by the end of January though. Jourdet has some snappy young athletes on the squad who will win games for him if they stay eligible.

"Lardie" Davis, former Lower Merion High Star, as well as Intercollegiate center at Penn for a couple of years, is helping Jourdet quite a bit with the Penn court five. "Lardie" is spending a lot of time on Sander, and an improvement is already seen over the blond boy's work of last season.

Have you any spare bulbs for a Christmas tree?

Here's some news that will please the papas and the mammas. You have heard of boys becoming ineligible for athletics, and you hear little of academic praise for the participants. A survey of the grades of the Lower Merion Junior High School football lettermen show a general average for the entire squad in all subjects of over 80 per cent.

With a full school program of class work, extra curricular activities other than sports, and a grilling football season of practice, that is a fine record that should be noted.

Christmas Program Given Last Night At School

A Christmas program given by the pupils of the Narberth School in the school auditorium last night, was witnessed by many parents. Carol singing and a presentation of "The Other Wise Men" of Henry Van Dyke, by the Seventh Grade boys, featured the program. The tableaux and music by the boys' choir were very well received.

The children of the school have been asked to collect toys and as a result twenty-three stockings have been filled and a truckload of toys, dolls and clothing has been gathered which will be turned over to the Main Line Federation of Churches and the Junior Red Cross for distribution among the poor children of the section.

Two outstanding auditorium programs have been presented during the month. On December 4, Mrs. Brenner's room gave a playlet called "Yankee Nations," which was written by the children themselves and depicted the industrial life of New England. It illustrated the work the pupils had been doing in geography and other subjects.

On December 11 Miss Hoover's Seventh Grade girls presented a Christmas program entitled "Christmas in Other Lands." This also was the work of the pupils, head by Eunice Griswold, Emily Edgerton and Louise Magee.

The new, silk flag presented to the school by the Parent-Teacher Association is now in use in the rostrum of the auditorium.

Draperies and curtains of the auditorium, which have been dyed, were rehung before the Christmas program Thursday night.

In a girl's hockey game on December 10, the Reds defeated the Grays, 2-0. The goals were made by Emily Edgerton and Louise Magee. In another match on Monday, the Reds repeated their victory, this time by a 1-0 score. The lone goal was scored by Emily Edgerton.

Christmas Carols

We love to hear the carols
And the bells at Christmas time.
They seem to whisper to us
"Rejoice, it's Christmas time."

'Round Wanamaker's organ
Crowds gather every year.
The voices with the organ
We always love to hear.

To the music of the organ
The people gather near,
They join in singing carols
With voices loud and clear.

"Silent Night, holy night,"
We hear them sweetly sing;
The organ and the voices
Make the store's great arches ring.

"Oh, little town of Bethlehem"
That song we're sure to hear.
It thrills us as we listen
As it has for many a year.

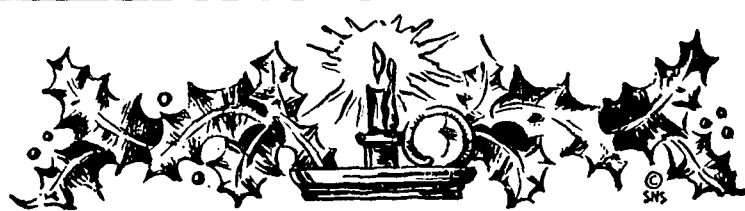

And when they sing "Joy to the world,"
We join with greater zeal.
And down our cheeks while singing
A tear will often steal.

The music it is broadcast
And many thousands hear.
We're sure they're better for it.
It makes "Peace on Earth" seem near.

And when we think of the great gift
To us that has been given.
We pray our Heavenly Father
To make us fit for Heaven.
—Margaret L. Griffith.

Family Relationships Is Subject of Talk

InterDenominational Community Mothers' Council Hears Education Speaker.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The second annual meeting of the Inter-denominational Community Mothers' Council was held Monday afternoon in St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

The devotional service was led by Mrs. Frederick Trunk.

The speaker of the afternoon was Miss Helen Chandall Goodspeed, of the Philadelphia Board of Education, who chose "Family Relationships" as her topic. Miss Goodspeed mentioned the changes that are taking place in every phase of our life, and so in the home life. Never before has there been so much thought and study given to family relationships and the guidance of the little child as now. The most educational years are the first five or six years of the child's life, when the character foundations are being laid.

Miss Goodspeed spoke of the home as a democratic institution where all its members should have a voice in its government and operation; and, as a family nursery of personality, with the right to develop; also she called the home a co-operative institution, each member having an interest and part in the work of the home.

An election of officers was held, resulting in the following: President, Mrs. Edward P. Townsend; secretary, Mrs. William Parker; treasurer, Mrs. Mason Barton. A vice president from each church is appointed by the pastors of the churches represented.

The January meeting of the I. C. M. C. will be held in the First Baptist Church on January 19, at 2:30 P. M. The speaker on this occasion will be Miss Emma Johnson, of the Nursery School, Temple University, who will speak on "Personality Adjustments of the Pre-School Child." A cordial invitation is extended to all women who have the interest of the little child at heart to attend these meetings, which are held the third Monday of each month.

Army of Extras Begin Work at Narberth P. O.

Seven clerks and a dozen carriers have been added to the force at the Narberth Post Office to help care for the rush of Christmas mail. The clerks reported for duty on Wednesday of this week and the mail carriers will begin work tomorrow.

The clerks are Mrs. Alma L. Trudelle, Charles L. Viguers, Jr., Benjamin Lanahan, Munro Purse, David Casey and Thomas McCartan. Of these Lanahan and Henry are regulars of the Christmas staff and Purse, Casey and McCartan have been employed at various times at the Post Office.

Extra carriers include Paul E. Cooper, John Mulligan, Leon Piercy, Frank Hutchinson, Keith Parkes, Wesley Cutaiar, Chester G. Jones, H. C. Wise, J. A. Sabrovitch, Ernest Jenkins, Robert Harris and Stanley Thomas. Veterans of one or more Christmas rushes are Hutchinson, Parkes, Jones, Harris and Thomas.

"The Christmas mailing seems to be a bit earlier than last year," said Assistant Postmaster J. Wallace Goodwin, this week. "There has been no noticeable difference in the volume of packages and first-class mail," he said.

A plea has been made by the Post Office authorities to buy stamps in Narberth.

A Chat About Philco Radios

Philco, you know, is the radio made by the sponsors of Stokowski's Philadelphia Orchestra programs. It claims the record for long-distance reception and for perfect tone reproduction.

No doubt you've seen the Philco ads in magazines, showing the difference between distorted tone and the tone produced on Philco balanced unit radios.

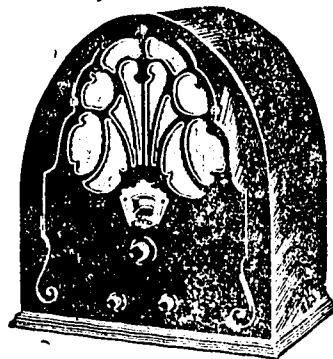

Screen Grid reception . . . and the Marvelous Tone Control, which enables you to choose any of four positions of tone quality . . . "brilliant," "bright," "mellow" and "deep," . . . and at the same time you can reduce noise and stridency from stations which come in harshly, so that many additional fine programs may be enjoyed.

Another feature is the new Station Recording Dial for permanently logging favorite stations, so that they can be tuned in with ease and facility.

Philco is made in several models, ranging from the Concert Grand Radio-Phonograph, $350, down to the Baby Grand Console, $69.50, less tubes, and the Baby Grand, $49.50, less tubes. Both the small models have 7 Philco balanced tubes and are complete with built-in Electro-Dynamic Speaker and Station Recording Dial.

A demonstration of these wonderful, new, compact baby sets will amaze you with fine, "big radio" performance.

Illustrated here is the Baby Grand, in its genuine Walnut cabinet. Gothic design, 16 inches wide, 17½ inches high, selling for $49.50 less tubes. Small in size and full-toned in performance.

WHO'S WHO

in the Lower Merion Police Force

Sergeant Girvin Is Biggest Man in the Department

The seventh of a series of articles to introduce the members of Lower Merion's splendid police force to our readers.

By ROBERT M. CAMERON

A familiar figure on the streets of Narberth is that of Sergeant Charles Girvin, who was assigned to duty in the borough in 1929. "Charley," as he is known to his many friends there, joined the Lower Merion police force on March 20, 1922, and was made a sergeant last year.

Girvin has the distinction of being the biggest man, although not the heaviest, in the department. He stands six feet three and one-quarter inches and tips the beam at 225 pounds, which for a man of his size is quite in proportion.

Girvin was born in Malvern on April 4, 1891. Up to the time he enlisted in the navy in 1917, he worked as a structural iron worker. During the war he served on the cruiser Frederick with the mine sweepers, both on this side and in the North Sea. "We thought we saw several submarines at one time or another," the sergeant said, "but I guess most of them were false alarms. We did see an oil tanker sunk off Cape Henlopen, Delaware, but whether it was by a submarine or mine, I don't know."

Girvin's ship, the Frederick, which was the old cruiser Maryland before the new battleship bearing that name was commissioned, was the one which carried army and navy athletes to the Olympic games in 1920. "We had the Annapolis crew aboard which won the rowing championship and a couple of those Hawaiian swimmers who gave an exhibition aboard ship."

"We spent six weeks at Antwerp while the Olympics were in progress," the Sergeant continued, "which was very pleasant. I traveled around a bit then in Belgium, Holland and Germany."

"In September, 1920, our ship went to the aid of the U. S. S. Pittsburgh which had gotten stuck in the Kiel Canal. We helped tow it to England and while there I took the opportunity of going down to London." Girvin was discharged from the navy in October, 1920.

During the next two years he worked for the Pennsylvania Railroad in the freight breaking service, the signal department and later in the railroad police force.

Sergeant Girvin was married in 1927 and has two children, Charles, Jr., and Margaret. His home is at 6 Franklin Avenue, Rosemont.

Interment was at Mt. Moriah Cemetery. Prominent Cynwyd Man Heads Electrical Group

Horace P. Liversidge, of 202 Clwyd Road, Cynwyd, was elected president of the Electrical Association for 1931 on Monday by the Board of Governors. Mr. Liversidge is vice president and general manager of the Philadelphia Electric Company. Joseph D. Israel, of 135 Rolling Road, Cynwyd, was elected secretary. Mr. Israel is district manager of the Philadelphia Electric Company.

In accepting the presidency, Mr. Liversidge said: "Since its inception in 1922, the Electrical Association of Philadelphia has progressed from a small social organization to one of the strongest promotional groups in the country."

"While the records of the Electric Association are full of accomplishments in the past two years, the growing utilization of electricity by industry, business, and the home, indicates that the coming year will be one of intense activity for the association."

"Plans of the organization for 1931 call for increased promotional work in the domestic field and a concentrated effort will be made to forward the movement for better lighting."

Help Unemployed Here By Assisting Committee

Last week the Burgess appointed a Citizens' Committee to act as a clearing house for information and to centralize relief for the unemployed in Narberth. This committee is very anxious to begin functioning as soon as possible.

Headquarters have been established in the Borough Council Room, Elm Hall. The telephone number is Narberth 2840. Those having business with the committee can get in touch with them personally or at the headquarters. The committee is composed of Mrs. Eberhardt Mueller, Mrs. C. Arley Farmer, Daniel Leitch and the Rev. Robert E. Keighton.

In order to facilitate matters, and to do the prescribed work efficiently, it is essential that the following persons and groups get in touch with the committee at once:

1. Those desiring employment.
2. Those having work to be done: housework, janitor jobs, window-cleaning, whitewashing, etc., in addition to business positions.
3. Persons knowing of cases falling in either of the two preceding groups.
4. All organizations and groups interested in this work and especially those already functioning. This is very necessary if duplication is to be avoided.
5. Any persons wishing to subscribe money or donate clothing, food, etc.

The committee has a few Christmas trees donated for distribution to needy families. Do you know where they can be given?

and the monarchies. So if the rebels become strong enough, out goes the dictator who ruled them with an iron hand, and they try another whom they think will be better.

Among the super-statesmen of Europe, one who has devoted all his energies to the building up of his country, is Benito Mussolini, and by his efforts on behalf of the peasants of Italy organized the Fascist party. This is composed of the youth and strength of the country—who are now styled "bundles of fight." Fascism is an intense patriotism and the black shirt stands for hardihood. From a small group this has become a powerful factor in Italy. Mussolini has ruled Italy with an iron hand until that nation has become a powerful factor in European life, but he, like all great statesmen, has territorial ambitions. That, too, is another story, for what country has not, since the cataclysm of the great war?

Mrs. Roberts outlined the present Mediterranean situation and the French and Italian controversies. One fact she mentioned that is rather interesting, is that until about two weeks ago France was the only country not suffering from unemployment which has been world wide.

Mrs. Roberts clearly pointed out that the one thing which holds us in a line for peace is that of world solidarity.

This only can be accomplished by each country entering into a pact against war.

Miss Florence Sausser delighted the members of the club with the singing of two selections, "Until," by Sanderson, and "Mammy," by Weir. This she followed by a charming encore. Mrs. H. M. Griest was the accompanist. Mrs. W. Russell Green, president of the club, was in the chair, and Mrs. P. A. Wales and Mrs. H. G. Reeves were at the tea table.
